

AIRBUS
GROUP

M. Pierre Cardin

Head of Procurement Strategy & Services

Strong of more than 25 years of experience working for Airbus and its preceding companies mostly in the Legal domain, Pierre Cardin recently took over the responsibility of the Procurement Strategy & Services department of Airbus.

This department aims at shaping the future of the Airbus Procurement function as well as the associated Supply Chain on various axes such as Global footprint, Innovation, and Digitalization.

It also implements the means to reach operational excellence in Procurement through services including contractual expertise and support of the function's information systems.